

Grain Quality Posters

Harvest Time is Almost Here!

Grain quality posters are a great tool to have in your facility. Not only will you use them as a reference, but your customers will more fully understand various types of damaged grain. Building an understanding with your customers will lead to a more positive working relationship.

These posters are similar to ones you may have purchased 8-10 years ago that are now faded and in need of replacement.

The poster includes color images (provided by FGIS) of grain damage in corn, soybeans, sorghum (milo), and wheat. Next to each image is a short, identifying description of the damage. Posters are 23" wide by 29" high. Place your order today for one in each of your facilities!

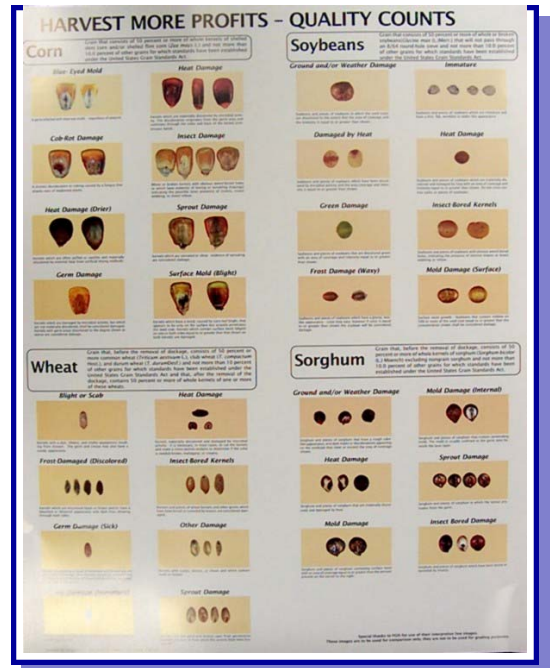

To help us keep the cost of the posters reasonable, payment would be appreciated with your order!

Available in English and Spanish Versions!!
